BACKGROUND INFORMATION: Frederick Paul Drier, D.C., practiced in St. Paul, Minnesota, as late as 1969. Although no connection is known between Dr. Drier and Northwestern Health Sciences University or Northwestern College of Chiropractic, we have a collection of his notes and exams; the dates of these papers range from 1920 to 1926, which predates NWCC. It’s possible Dr. Drier was a student at the Midwest College of Chiropractic in Minneapolis, but how his papers came into our possession is unknown.

The Drier collection is comprised of two series: the first contains miscellaneous papers, such as notes and correspondence; the second contains exams written by Dr. Drier. This collection is small, but the exams are an example of testing during the first quarter of the 20th century.
